BULLYING AND HARASSMENT POLICY

POLICY

The policy is to ensure that all students/trainees, staff, visitors and stakeholders socialise in an environment that is based on inclusivity and respect, and free from discrimination, bullying, harassment, including hazing and vilification, and sexual misconduct. The policy is to also ensure that students/trainees, staff, visitors, and stakeholders understand the Ardor College's required accountabilities, and complaint handling principles, including the necessity to afford natural justice to affected persons.

SCOPE

This policy covers anti bullying / discrimination / harassment within and external to the workplace through any medium. It applies to all staff, consultants, volunteers, visitors, students, apprentices, and stakeholders. The principles set out in this policy are intended to apply to any context involving the College.

DEFINITION

Bullying is repeated, persistent, unreasonable behaviour by one or more people, directed towards a worker, or a group of workers, that creates a risk to their health and safety. This can include a range of behaviours over time. Bullying can be carried out verbally, physically or in writing (e.g. via email, internet chat rooms, instant messaging, and mobile phone technologies such as text messaging). Bullying can be directed in a range of ways in a workplace – downwards (from supervisors or managers to workers), sideways (between workers or co-workers) and upwards (from workers to supervisors or managers).

Within this definition:

- a) unreasonable behaviour means behaviour that a reasonable person, having regard to all the circumstances, would expect to victimise, humiliate, undermine, or threaten
- b) behaviour includes actions of individuals or a group, and may involve using a system of work as a means of victimising, humiliating, undermining, or threatening
- c) risk to health and safety includes risk to the mental or physical health of the person. Examples of behaviour that could be bullying include:
 - abusive, insulting, rude, offensive language including use of raised voice, berating behaviour
 - intimidating, hostile or threatening behaviour
 - humiliating someone through sarcasm or insults
 - undue criticism
 - spreading misinformation or malicious rumours
 - deliberately withholding or denying access to information, supervision, consultation or resources that are necessary for effective work performance, resulting in detrimental effects to the worker
 - setting unreasonable timelines or constantly changing deadlines

- excluding, isolating or marginalising a person from normal work activities
- unreasonably overloading a person with work, or not providing enough work
- setting tasks that are unreasonably below or beyond a person's skill level
- giving someone the majority of unpleasant tasks
- improper treatment in relation to accessing workplace entitlements, such as leave or training.

Discrimination refers to when someone is treated unfairly because they belong to a particular group of people or have a characteristic. In Australia it is unlawful to discriminate because of the following characteristics.

Note that protected characteristics differ between some States and Territories.

- Age
- Disability
- Industrial activity
- Employment activity
- Lawful sexual activity
- Marital status
- Physical features
- Political belief or activity
- Race (including colour, nationality, ethnicity, and ethnic origin)
- Pregnancy
- Religious belief or activity
- Sex
- Sexual orientation
- Parental status or status as a carer
- Breast feeding
- Gender identity
- Social origin
- Irrelevant criminal record
- Personal association (whether as a relative or otherwise) with a person who is identified by reference to any of the above attributes

UNLAWFUL DISCRIMINATION MAY BE DIRECT OR INDIRECT

- Direct Discrimination occurs if a person treats, or proposes to treat, someone with a protected characteristic less favourably or unfairly because of that attribute.
- Indirect Discrimination refers to situations where treating everyone the same is unfair. It occurs when an unreasonable requirement, condition or practice that purports to treat everyone the same, or potentially, disadvantages someone with a protected attribute.

- Harassment is unwelcomed or unreciprocated behaviour which makes a person feel intimidated, offended, or belittled in the workplace. Harassment is a form of unlawful discrimination. Harassment based on sex, race, or disability is also unlawful under Commonwealth laws and harassment such as physical assault can be a criminal offence. Examples of behaviour that could be harassing include:
- physical contact or requests for sexual favours
 - persistent following (stalking)
 - suggestive looks implying a sexual interest
 - persistent verbal abuse or threats
 - persistently disrupting an individual's work, workspace, equipment or interfering with their personal property
 - jokes, derogatory or dismissive comments
 - gestures that are insulting or belittling
 - circulating, displaying written or pictorial material that is offensive or belittling

SEXUAL HARASSMENT

Sexual harassment is unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, which offends, humiliates, or intimidates the person at which it is directed, regardless of intent. It does not include conduct occurring within a personal relationship of mutual attraction and/or friendship. Sexual harassment may occur in a single incident as well as a series of incidents. The harassment may be subtle and implicit, rather than explicit. This behaviour frequently involves an abuse of power and/or trust and is often directed at a person who is unable to stop the behaviour easily. The behaviour may occur either at the workplace, or outside the workplace at workplace-related functions. The respective genders of the two parties is not relevant.

Sexual harassment may consist of:

- unwelcome physical contact (e.g. touching, patting, or brushing against a person)
- leering, patting, touching or unnecessary familiarity
- demands for sexual favours
- offensive or demeaning comments, emails, jokes or innuendo
- unwanted sexual propositions or advances
- sending emails, text messages or mail that may be sexually explicit and offensive to either gender
- offensive telephone calls
- spreading rumours of a sexual nature about a person's private life
- offensive gestures, staring or displaying offensive material
- unwelcome or uncalled for remarks, questions or insinuations about a person's sexual activities or private life

Victimisation occurs where a person suffers or is threatened with any form of detriment after making a complaint.

Workplace Bullying

Workplace bullying, discrimination and harassment are not tolerated under any circumstances.

- Any employee, student or apprentice may complain about workplace bullying, discrimination, and harassment to the CEO.
- All complaints of workplace bullying, discrimination and harassment are treated seriously, promptly, and confidentially.
- All formal complaints of workplace bullying, discrimination and harassment are investigated fairly and impartially which include:
 - Action is taken to ensure that workplace bullying, discrimination and harassment stops.
 - Complaints are settled within the workplace whenever possible.
 - Unlawful discrimination can lead to legal proceedings under Anti-Discrimination legislation.

It is possible for a person to be bullied, harassed, and discriminated against at the same time. A student/apprentice shall not bully, harass, or discriminate against:

- Any staff of the College
- A contract worker of the College
- A member of the public
- Another student/apprentice.
- A student/apprentice must not bully, harass or discriminate against another student/apprentice, or a member of the Board or a member of a Committee of the College (who may not be a Board member) in the performance of his or her functions for the College.
- A Student/apprentice shall not victimise another person, or subject a person to any detriment because that person: -
 - has made a complaint under College Policies
 - has brought proceedings under College Policies
 - has, or proposes to, give evidence or information in connection with proceedings, under College Policies.

SCOPE

This policy applies to all apprentices of Ardor College Salon that are responsible for merchandising stock.

DEFINITIONS

Merchandising includes:

- General store character
- Product selection and emphasis e Product display and promotion e Pricing
- Education and Advertising
- Product choice

ASSOCIATED DOCUMENTS

- Stock Control Procedures
- Work Health and Safety Legislation (WHS)
- Visual Merchandising Manual

GENERAL STORE CHARACTER

- All merchandising needs to be in line with the standards of the organisation as outlined in the Visual Merchandising Manual.
- The focus of all merchandising should be of a high-quality standard.
- All store merchandising must be in line with the image of the store.

- All store merchandising must follow the elements of design which are balance, size, colour, focal point,
- lighting and simplicity.
- When choosing a merchandising theme, props and colour, they must be in similar shade and design to advertising materials and catalogues.

PRODUCT EMPHASIS

To emphasize a product means to give it a more prominent position in the store and to make efforts to increase its sale. This can be done by:

- Displaying product in a prominent position and according to the visual merchandising plan.
- Price the product at a lower mark-up than other items not being emphasized.
- Promoting information about the item and ways to use it to customers.
- Providing a new product display area.

UPACKING MERCHANDISE

- Before unpacking merchandise, check over the box to ensure there is no damage or leakage of products. If damage is found, report to supervisor.
- Use box cutters to open the box in a safe fashion.
- Handle all stock according to stock characteristics. For example, fragile merchandise should be handled with care.
- Always unpack merchandise in a place where stock will not get damaged or create a safety hazard. Validate all merchandise against the purchase order to ensure all stock is received. If stock is missing, contact supervisor.
- Identify any damaged stock, mark the stock as damaged on the purchase order, put the stock aside, and report to supervisor.
- Store all merchandise according to manufacturer instructions.

PRICING OF PRODUCTS

- All products on displays must be individually labelled with the correct price according to legislative requirements. All prices for retail products must be in accordance with the recommended retail price listed by the manufacturer.
- All prices must be attached to the bottom of the packaging of products.
- Any marked down items must have old price labels removed and products must be individually labelled with the marked down price.
- If the price on the store floor does not match the price when scanning the barcode, the customer should always receive the displayed price on the shop floor.

LOCATION OF DISPLAY AREAS

- Display area should be in accordance with the visual merchandising plan.
- Always follow WHS legislation when choosing location of display areas.
- Display areas should not be blocking walkways or aisles.

- Display areas should always be in areas of focal points for customers and easily accessible in order to emphasize products.

BUILDING AND ROTATION OF DISPLAYS

- All products must be displayed in a straightforward and uncluttered manner.
- Displays must be built in accordance with manufacturer instructions and only used up to their load bearing capacity.
- Displays should be only used for one month and then a new display must be built.
- Displays may be rotated monthly to other areas of the store and should never stay in the same position in the store for more than a month.
- If a display has been rotated to a new area of the store, a new display must be created and replace the rotated display in the old location.

MAINTENANCE OF DISPLAYS

- Displays should be replenished as needed and at the beginning and end of every day with old products at the front of the display and new products positioned at the back.
- Displays should be wiped over and cleaned of dust every day.

USE OF DISPLAYS

- Display cabinets are to be used only for store promotions.
- Store shelving is to be used for stocking products for retail sales.
- Displays should be dismantled and rebuilt every month for new promotions.

MERCHANDISE RANGE

For each cosmetic brand, the apprentice performing merchandising duties must ensure that ten examples of every retail product the store stocks and sells is displayed on store shelving for customers to see and buy.

SAFE WORK POLICY

Responsibilities

Management is responsible for providing and maintaining:

- A safe working environment
- Safe systems of work
- Facilities for the welfare of workers
- Any information, instruction, training, and supervision needed to make sure that all workers are safe from injury and risks to their health.
- Personal protective equipment
- Ensure that the Work Health and Safety ACT and Regulations that apply to working conditions and work environment are observed and enforced.

Apprentices are responsible for:

- Ensuring their own personal health and safety and that of others in the workplace according to Work Health and Safety Legislation for all insurances to be valid.
- Complying with safe work practices with the intent of avoiding injury to themselves and others. Wear personal protective equipment and clothing when necessary
- Comply with any direction given by management for health and safety.
- Not misuse or intervene with anything provided for health and safety.
- Identify hazards and take remedial action if this does not pose a risk to the health and safety of the apprentice, or others in the workplace.
- Report all accidents and incidents on the job immediately, no matter how trivial. Report all known or observed hazards to supervisor or manager.
- Participating in consultative processes when asked to do so by management.

SAFE WORK PROCEDURES

FORMAL RISK ASSESSMENTS

- Formal risk assessments must be carried out when new beauty treatments, hair services or equipment are introduced to the salon or when asked to do so by management.
- A risk assessment form with the assessed risk must be completed for any identified hazards and submitted to management.
- Apprentice may be required to participate in consultative processes for hazard management.
- If the apprentice identifies hazards in the normal course of performing duties, follow the procedure for dealing with workplace hazards.

REPORTING OF WORKPLACE INCIDENTS

An incident report form must be completed for any of the following incidents in the workplace and submitted to management:

- All accidents, even where injury has not occurred
- Injuries
- Emergencies
- Dangerous incidents
- Severe allergic reactions of products

PRE-START CHECKS

Always conduct pre-start checks prior to using equipment. The following procedures should be followed when conducting pre-start checks:

Tools and equipment

- Ensure there are no faults in the tool or piece of equipment to be used.
- Ensure the correct piece of equipment or tool is used to perform the task.
- Ensure all tools and equipment have been sanitised or sterilised according to Health and Hygiene and Skin Penetration Guidelines.

Electrical equipment

- Always ensure electrical equipment is turned off prior to conducting the pre-start check.
- If the equipment has been tested and tagged, ensure it is within the testing date range.
- Check for faults in the equipment such as frayed cords or buzzing sounds.
- Ensure power boards are not overloaded.
- Ensure the area is free of hazards, such as water or flammable chemicals.
- Always start the equipment in accordance with the manufacturer instructions.

DEALING WITH WORKPLACE HAZARDS

- First rule when dealing with workplace hazards - Never put yourself or others at risk to control a hazard. Always ask for assistance from your supervisor if the hazard is beyond your scope of responsibilities or will pose a risk to health and safety of yourself and others to control the hazard.
- When a spill has been identified, display signage straight away if this does not put yourself or others at risk.
- Wear personal protective equipment when dealing with the hazard, where appropriate.
- Eliminate the hazard if possible if the elimination does not pose a risk to your safety or the safety of others.
- In the case of faulty electrical equipment, remove the item from service, tag the item as faulty and store it in the designated area.
- Report all hazards to your supervisor or workplace safety representative by completing page three of the risk assessment form (complete risk assessment does not need to be carried out for identified hazards during course of normal working day).
- Ensure to work in compliance with Hazard Management Procedures QS018.

MAINTAINING WORK AREAS

- All exits and walkways must be kept clear of debris, blockages, and clutter.
- Work areas should be cleaned and maintained in a way that does not interfere with apprentice or customer safety.
- Storage areas must be kept well organised and in a way that does not create a hazard trying to access stored items. Items in storage areas must not be stacked on top of each other higher than 1 metre.
- Heavy items in storage areas must be kept on lower levels.
- Shelving and display areas should not be overstocked, and items should be placed in a safe position so as not to create a hazard by falling on employees/apprentices or customers.
- When cleaning shelving, do not place items in a place that could cause a hazard to employees/apprentices or customers.
- Apprentice must follow the manual handling industry code of practice when maintaining work areas, especially when using cleaning equipment such as mops and vacuum cleaners.

USING AND MAINTAINING TOOLS AND EQUIPMENT

- Always conduct a pre-start check prior to using tools and equipment. Use all tools and equipment according to manufacturer instructions.
- Maintain all tools and equipment according to manufacturer instructions.
- Remove any tool or piece of equipment that is not in good working order, tag equipment as faulty and report to manager.
- Employees/apprentices must follow the manual handling industry code of practice for the State or Territory they are working in when using tools and equipment, especially when using cleaning equipment such as mops and vacuum cleaners.
- When dealing with electrical equipment, follow electrical safety policy below.

INFECTION CONTROL

- All apprentices are expected to use standard and transmission-based precautions to minimise the risk of infection.
- All apprentices are to wear appropriate personal protective equipment to minimise the risk of cross infection. All non-intact skin is to be completely covered with a waterproof dressing prior to performing treatment.
- All apprentices are expected to follow Personal Hygiene Policy.
- Skin Penetration Guidelines must be followed when carrying out skin penetration procedures or for any equipment that has accidentally penetrated the skin.
- All sharps that are to be disposed of, must be disposed in the Sharps container.
- All cleaning of instruments must flow from the dirty to clean zone (and sterile zone where appropriate) to avoid cross contamination.
- All clean tools and equipment must be stored in the clean area of the workplace to avoid cross contamination with dirty tools and equipment.
- All cleaning areas should be wiped over and disinfected prior to cleaning tasks being carried out and after the completion of cleaning tasks.
- All re-usable equipment that has not been used for skin penetration must be cleaned and disinfected after use according the Health and Hygiene Guidelines.
- All re-usable equipment that has become contaminated with blood or body fluid must be sterilised according to the Health and Hygiene Guidelines.
- Any waste containing blood or body fluids must be disposed of into the clinical and related waste bin.
- Thermal disinfection can be used for equipment that can handle high temperature in water. The water must be at 80 degrees Celsius and be thermally disinfected for a period of 10 minutes.
- Where thermal disinfection is not appropriate, all tools and equipment must be chemically disinfected according to manufacturer specifications. An alcohol solution should be used for metal implements to avoid rust and a hospital grade disinfectant should be used for all other tools and equipment according to the manufacturer instructions.

ELECTRICAL SAFETY

- Always conduct a pre-start check prior to using any electrical equipment.
- Use all electrical equipment according to manufacturer instructions.
- Remove or replace electrical cords with exposed wires or faults, tag equipment as faulty and report to manager using hazard report form.
- Follow the Hazard Management Procedure for faulty equipment if you have identified an equipment fault.
- Do not overload power boards.
- All electrical equipment is to be tested and tagged every twelve months with the date it was inspected.
- Do not run electrical leads across floors. Try to keep cleaning duties such as vacuuming to opening and closing times. If unavoidable, ensure you carry out procedure in a safe way that will not cause harm to other apprentices or customers.
- Inspect all electrical equipment every day during opening procedure.
- Do not have water near electrical equipment.
- Report all incidents of electrical malfunctions, including short circuits, overloaded circuits to management.

DEALING WITH CHEMICALS INCLUDING HAZARDOUS CHEMICALS

- Always wear Personal Protective equipment provided when using chemicals.
- Read Safety Data Sheet (SDS) prior to using any chemical.
- Use all chemicals according to Manufacturer instructions.
- Read warning labels and HAZCHEM labels to ensure you are using chemical safely
- Store chemicals in their designated place.
- When disposing of chemicals, solidify with absorbent material and place in airtight container in in general waste. Do not throw down the sink.
- All apprentices must follow the managing hazardous chemicals code of practice when dealing with hazardous chemicals.

FOLLOW EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

In the case of an emergency, all apprentices must follow the Accident and Emergency Procedures.

PARTICIPATE IN CONSULTATIVE PROCESSES

- All employees/apprentices must participate in consultative processes for managing risks in the workplace when asked to do so by management.
- WHS consultation meetings may happen in a group or individually.

SOCIAL MEDIA PRINCIPLES

The following principles act as a guide to help you determine the appropriate use of social media. These principles apply when engaging with social media in relation to both practical use of social media, and to your responsibilities as an apprentice of Ardor College Salon:

- Familiarise yourself with the Ardor College Salon Code of Conduct Policy.
- Do not post anything on behalf of Ardor College Salon unless you are authorised to do so.
- Always maintain confidentiality of Ardor College Salon's information and respect the privacy and reputation of others.
- Always seek written consent prior to using other people's information (such as logos, images, photographs, or trademarks etc. excepting photos shared on social media where a credit is posted alongside the content).
- When referencing information or content, where possible, provide a link back to the source.
- Only authorised Ardor College Salon spokespeople can respond to complaints or criticisms about the Company on any public site to ensure fact-based responses.

- Be positive, courteous, respectful, and constructive in all interactions on social media, and when you are referring to Ardor College Salon and its employees/apprentices or customers.
- When discussing Ardor College Salon or related matters on the Internet, you must identify yourself and your role at Ardor College Salon. Always ensure you make it clear whether what you are saying is your own opinion, or that of the Company's. For example, if you create a blog about beauty and mention you work at Ardor College Salon, you should use a disclaimer such as "The content on this site is my own and does not necessarily represent the position or opinions of Ardor College Salon."
- You are personally responsible for the content you post on social media. Always remember that once you have posted it on the Internet, it is almost always viewable by the public and can be near impossible to remove it completely.

BREACH OF POLICY

Certain conduct is inappropriate at any time when you are online, including in a personal capacity.

It is important to remember that social media platforms are public forums and there may be implications in your actions, either by Ardor College Salon or legally, if you engage in any of the following:

- Harassment, Discrimination or Bullying
- Illegal or Unethical Behaviour
- Breaches of Confidentiality
- Privacy

Under no circumstances should offensive or derogatory comments be made about Ardor College Salon, your colleagues, employers, customers, or any third parties on the Internet. This may amount to cyber-bullying and could be deemed a disciplinary offence.

Circumstances where use of social media may result in disciplinary action include but are not limited to the following:

- Using social media to bully, harass or discriminate against work colleagues, customers and/or third parties
- Posting of defamatory content on social media
- Posting workplace disputes or grievances on social media
- Using offensive language or posting offensive content on social media
- Disclosure of confidential information or intellectual property on the sites; or
- Serious and/or repeated breaches of this policy.

Apprentices who engage in breach of policy, even outside the workplace, may be liable to face disciplinary action. Failure to comply with this policy may result in disciplinary action being taken against apprentices up to and including termination of employment.

MATERIAL POSTED BY OTHERS

If you see any content which you believe is inappropriate in relation to Ardor College Salon or its employees/apprentices on social media, you should inform the Salon Manager. You are not to respond on behalf of the Company unless authorised to do so.

ARDOR COLLEGE SALON SOCIAL MEDIA CODE OF CONDUCT

EMERGENCY AND CRITICAL INCIDENT PROCEDURES

PURPOSE

To document the procedure for apprentices to follow when dealing with an emergency.

SCOPE

This procedure applies to all apprentices and visitors and covers the actions that must be taken by various personnel from the time of incident or emergency is detected.

It is clearly recognised that each emergency will have its own features that cannot be completely anticipated here. This document gives the general structure for the management of a variety of foreseeable emergency situations.

ASSOCIATED DOCUMENTS

Work health and Safety Legislation

DEFINITIONS

Emergency - is an unplanned or imminent event that affects or threatens the health, safety or welfare of people, property and infrastructure and which requires a significant and coordinated response.

Emergency Management - is the coordination of an emergency response and management of recovery. The aim of emergency management is to minimise the physical and psychological impacts on all parties and assets.

Critical incident - is an unexpected, traumatic event, involving personal or professional threat which evokes extreme stress, fear or injury.

ASSOCIATED PERSONNEL

- First aid personnel
- Work Health and Safety Officer
- Personnel responsible for evacuation procedures
- Nominated fire warden
- Nominated first aid officer

PROCEDURE

FIRE

- In the event of a minor fire incident where there are no naked flames and it is safe to put out, then attempt to do so using an extinguisher or fire blanket if you are confident and trained to do. Report the incident to the fire warden.
- If the fire is significant, do not attempt to put the fire out. You should trigger the fire alarm.
- Regardless of whether you trigger the alarm or hear the alarm, immediately evacuate the building, following evacuation procedures and proceed to evacuation point.
- Your fire warden will contact the appropriate emergency services and take a roll call to ensure everyone has safely evacuated the building.
- If you have knowledge of the cause of the fire, contact your fire warden.

EVACUATION

- In the event of an alert to evacuate, either verbal or by alarm proceed in an orderly fashion along designated routes to the designated assembly area.
- When evacuating, walk, do not run. Running is slip, trip or fall hazard which could lead to serious injury during an evacuation.
- Use the nearest available exit and do not use elevators. Leave belongings behind.
- Ensure assistance is provided to anyone having difficulty and people with disabilities or special needs.
- Personnel responsible for evacuation procedures will register staff attendance and customers on the premises at the time of evacuation.
- Remain at the assembly area until advised by the Work Health and Safety Officer and/or emergency personnel that it is safe to return to the premises.

PHYSICAL THREAT OR HOLD UP SITUATION

- In the event of an aggressive person, try to calm the person, acknowledge their feeling of frustration and ask them to explain their needs.
- If the aggressive behaviour continues, try to leave the situation and seek assistance.
- If the person is becoming increasingly aggressive or threatens violence, withdraw from the situation immediately.
- In the event of a hold up situation, assume the offender is armed and that any firearms are loaded. Comply with instructions given by the offender, doing no more or less than what you are told to do and answer all questions asked.
- Do not attempt to disarm the offender.
- Take mental notes of details about the offender and any items that are touched by the offender.
- If it is safe to do so, raise the alarm.

ELECTRIC SHOCK

- Minor shocks
- If you or someone else suffers from a mild electrical shock, you should report the incident to your manager or supervisor. Incidences of static electrical shocks do not need to be reported, unless they are a frequent occurrence when using electrical equipment for treatments.
- If the mild shock has happened from faulty equipment, then the equipment should be removed from use until it has been properly tested. A hazard report form should be completed and given to manager or supervisor.
- Complete an incident report form and give it to your manager or supervisor.

SEVERE SHOCKS

Check the area of the incident carefully. If the person being shocked is still in contact with the electrical source, do not touch them. If possible, turn off electricity at the power box. Never use water, even if there is a fire, as water can conduct electricity.

If possible, turn the electricity off at the power box, the circuit breaker or the fuse box. Call emergency services.

Follow first aid and medical emergency procedures.

FIRST AID AND MEDICAL EMERGENCY

- If a person is seriously injured or ill, phone an ambulance immediately. Call out to other staff for help and to the nominated first aid officer.
- Stay with the injured or ill party if safe to do so. Never put yourself at risk of harm to stay with the injured party.
- Send someone outside to flag down the ambulance.
- For less serious incidents contact the first aid officer who can manage minor incidents such as cuts, bruises and grazes by using the first aid kit.

- Always follow first aid instructions listed on Safety Data Sheet (SDS) for any chemical accidents of incidents.
- For any first aid or medical emergency, complete an Incident Report Form.

HAZARD MANAGEMENT PROCEDURES

PURPOSE

To document the procedure for apprentices to follow when dealing with a potential hazard

DEFINITIONS

- Hazard means anything that could cause injury.
- Risk is the possibility that harm to a person may occur when exposed to the hazard.

ASSOCIATED DOCUMENTS

Work Health and Safety Legislation Safe Work Policy

PROCEDURE

- Identify the hazard
- Assess the risk

PROCEDURE FOR DEALING WITH SPILL

- Before cleaning any spill, always assess the risk in cleaning the spill. Never put yourself or others at risk to clean a spill. If it is unsafe to clean a spill, such as water on an electrical source, notify management immediately.
- In the case of a spill of liquid, food or other substance, display signage immediately.
- Wear appropriate Personal Protective Equipment to clean spill.
- If the spill is a hazardous substance, follow the Safe Work Policy section in dealing with chemicals and hazardous substances. This means clean the spill using absorbent paper and dispose of in a plastic bag in general waste.
- If the spill is a flammable substance, look for any sources of ignition and remove them. If there is any electrical equipment nearby turn it off immediately.
- If the spill is not a hazardous substance, eliminate the spill by sweeping, mopping or cleaning.
- If you are unsure of the contents of the spill, always treat the spill as hazardous.
- Fill out an incident report form and either fax, email or give it to management.

APPRENTICE COUNSELLING AND DISCIPLINARY PROCEDURES

PURPOSE

To provide a guide to the application and management of disciplinary action for unacceptable performance or misconduct. The nature of the apprentice's performance or behaviour will determine the stage of the disciplinary process to be applied.

SCOPE

This procedure applies to all apprentices. Nothing in this procedure prevents Ardor College Salon from undertaking an alternative process where the matter is regarded as serious misconduct.

DEFINITIONS

Unacceptable performance is when an apprentice's performance remains unacceptable following a reasonable period given for performance improvement. Misconduct is when an apprentice breaches their obligations under their contract. Examples of misconduct include, but are not limited to:

- Breaches of policies, codes of conduct and other reasonable instructions.
- Unauthorised absence from the workplace.
- Inappropriate use of Ardor College Salon property and facilities.
- Serious misconduct is when an apprentice breaches their obligations under their 'contract' to an extent that it is reasonable for Ardor College Salon to discontinue their apprenticeship. Examples are, but not limited to:
 - Threatened or actual assault of another staff member e Serious conflict of interest
 - Serious or repeated bullying, abuse, or sexual harassment of another apprentice
 - Serious failure to observe Safe work Policy

ASSOCIATED DOCUMENTS

- Code of Conduct Policy
- Personal Hygiene and Uniform Policy
- Safe Work Policy
- Work Health and Safety Act
- Fair Work Act

PROCEDURE

Establishment of Facts

As part of the process to establish the facts, supervisor may:

- Assess any relevant documentation.
- Interview other apprentices who may have knowledge of the apprentice's behaviour.

- Document what has occurred.
- Once all documentation has been collected, the supervisor will meet with the apprentice concerned.

INFORMAL COUNSELLING

Informal counselling of an apprentice will normally occur when, in the supervisor's opinion, the apprentice's behaviour is such that formal disciplinary action is not appropriate.

At the informal counselling, the supervisor will:

- Provide details of the behaviour of concern
- Provide the apprentice with an opportunity to respond to the concern.
- Work with the apprentice to find acceptable solutions to the issue.

FORMAL COUNSELLING

Formal counselling of the apprentice will normally occur when the apprentice has previously been counselled informally, but behaviour has not improved.

At the formal counselling, the supervisor will:

- Provide details of the behaviour of concern
- Provide the apprentice with an opportunity to respond to the concern

After the formal counselling, the supervisor will prepare a written record of the meeting and plan a subsequent discussion with the apprentice to review their behaviour.

FORMAL WARNING

A formal warning will be given to an apprentice when:

- The apprentice has previously been counselled formally, but behaviour has not improved to the standard required.
- The apprentice's performance remains unacceptable following a reasonable period for improvement.

PROCESS FOR TERMINATION OF TRAINING

If after the formal warning stage of this procedure and within a reasonable period there is still no or insufficient improvement in the apprentice's performance, the supervisor will contact the manager of Ardor College Salon.

The apprentice shall be advised of the process in writing and given an opportunity to respond.

The student/apprentice will be given the opportunity to appeal the decision made.

If termination of Training Contract is approved by the PEO, the apprentice will be provided with written communication confirming the termination of their Training Contract.
